Academic Costumes

The wearing of academic costumes is a custom that goes back to the Middle Ages. Since the early European and English universities were founded by the church, the students and teachers were required to wear distinctive gowns at all times. Although the custom was brought to this country in Colonial days, the requirement for students was soon dropped. The custom for professors was confined to special occasions such as graduating exercises and inaugurations of new presidents. With the increase in the number of educational institutions and the development of new subject-matter fields, some confusion arose in time about the type of gown and the specific color to denote various degrees. To introduce desirable uniformity and set up a clearing house for new developments, a commission representing leading American colleges produced The Intercollegiate Code in 1895. In 1932, a national committee of the American Council on Education revised this code into The Academic Costume Code. It was revised in 1959. Although not obligatory, most of the educational institutions in the country follow it in awarding their degrees, earned and honorary.

The most significant part of the academic dress is the hood. The color of its velvet border indicates the academic field, and it is lined with the color or colors of the institution granting the degree. The hoods of those receiving a Master of Arts or an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters have those same color indications, but each successively higher degree carries with it a longer hood. The doctoral hood also has side panels on the back.

Although most doctoral gowns are black with black velvet bars and panels, in some cases the color of the gown is that of the university conferring the degree. All such gowns have black bars and panels.

Academic fields may also be indicated by the color of velvet on the doctoral gowns; three two-inch bars on the sleeves and a five-inch border extending from the back of the neck down the two sides in front. For the degree of Doctor of Philosophy the color is dark blue; for Doctor of Medicine, green; for Doctor of Education, light blue; for Doctor of Science, golden yellow. These colors also appear in the velvet of the hood unless the hood represents an honorary degree. The Doctor of Laws has purple velvet. The Doctor of Humanities is white, as is the Doctor of Letters. The Doctor of Public Administration has a hood with velvet in pale aqua.

Caps are black. Tassels are usually black for bachelor's and master's degrees, gold for doctorates. Gowns for bachelor's and master's are plain black, but sleeves of the latter are short with trailing "elbows." Doctoral gowns of European universities are usually very colorful. The caps are often of some soft material like velvet and are ordinarily not of the conventional mortar-board shape. Several examples may be seen in the university faculty:

Arts, Letters, Humanities—white
Commerce, Accountancy,
Business—drab
Education—light blue
Engineering—orange
Fine Arts—brown
Journalism—crimson
Law—purple
Library Science—lemon

Medicine—green
Music—pink
Nursing—apricot
Philosophy—dark blue
Physical Education—sage green
Science—golden yellow
Social Science—cream
Theology—scarlet
Veterinary Science—gray

Alma Mater

(The audience is invited to participate.)

Far above the rolling campus,
Resting in the dale,
Stands the dear old Alma Mater
We will always hail.
Shout in chorus, raise your voices,
Blue and Gold—praise you.
Winning through to fame and glory,
Dear old MSU.

Commencement Profiles

Dr. Ronald G. Eaglin became the 12th president of Morehead State University on July 1, 1992. Bringing nearly 30 years of experience in higher education administration to the MSU post, he previously was chancellor of the University of South Carolina's Coastal Carolina College at Conway.

A former vice chancellor for academic affairs at USC's Spartanburg campus, Dr. Eaglin began his career in higher education administration in the area of student life/housing and has taught both in public school and university settings. In the early 1970s, he served as southeast regional director of the American College Testing Program (ACT).

He holds a bachelor's degree in biology and mathematics from Southeast Missouri State University, a master's degree in student personnel administration from Southern Illinois University and a doctoral degree in educational psychology from the University of Utah.

A graduate of Leadership South Carolina, he has been active in the NCAA President's Commission. Active in the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, President Eaglin has served on numerous AASCU committees.

He frequently serves as a consultant and often presents workshops for colleges on student retention, leadership and academic advisement.

In late July of 1992, he chaired a Fulbright High Commission delegation which went to Cyprus to present a four-day seminar on accreditation and self-study for higher education representatives of Turkish and Greek Cypriot communities.

A member of several honorary societies such as Psi Chi and Phi Delta Kappa, Dr. Eaglin also is active in his community. As president of MSU, Dr. Eaglin serves as a member of the Board of Directors of the Morehead-Rowan County Chamber of Commerce and the Jesse Stuart Foundation. He is a member of the Kentucky Council on Higher Education's Conference of Presidents.

He and his wife, Bonnie, have four adult children.

Faith Esham of New York City, a native of neighboring Lewis County, today receives an honorary Doctor of Musical Arts degree.

Ms. Esham holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Juilliard School and has received international acclaim for her outstanding performances in the leading opera houses of the United States and Europe. A soprano, she also studied for a period of four years with Vasile Venetozzi, professor of music at MSU.

Ms. Esham periodically shares her talent and experience with the University's music faculty and students by teaching master classes in opera performance. The daughter of Mrs. Elwood Esham of Vanceburg, she is a gifted artist who is proud of her Eastern Kentucky heritage.

Dorothy E. Schmidt of Georgetown, a graduating senior in the College of Applied Sciences and Technology, will be the student speaker. A nontraditional student, she will receive the B.S. degree in veterinary technology with honors today. After graduating from high school, she earned an associate degree in equine office management from Midway College and later entered MSU, earning her A.A.S. degree in veterinary technology last summer.

A registered animal technician, she works part-time with the Hagyard, Davidson, McGee Equine Hospital in Lexington and Ethicon Endo-Surgery in Cincinnati. She completed her preceptorship at Rood & Riddle Equine Hospital in Lexington. Her field of interest lies mainly in equine medicine with her current goal being to work at the School of Veterinary Medicine.

A dean's list student, Schmidt has been a member of MSU's equestrian team and Alpha Tau Sigma, an organization for vet tech students. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Schmidt of Georgetown and granddaughter of Anna Mallory, also of Georgetown.

The wearing of academic costumes is a custom that goes back to the Middle Ages. Since the early European and English universities were founded by the church, the students and teachers were required to wear distinctive gowns at all times. Although the custom was brought to this country in Colonial days, the requirement for students was soon dropped. The custom for professors was confined to special occasions such as graduating exercises and inaugurations of new presidents. With the increase in the number of educational institutions and the development of new subject-matter fields, some confusion arose in time about the type of gown and the specific color to denote various degrees. To introduce desirable uniformity and set up a clearing house for new developments, a commission representing leading American colleges produced The Intercollegiate Code in 1895. In 1932, a national committee of the American Council on Education revised this code into The Academic Costume Code. It was revised in 1959. Although not obligatory, most of the educational institutions in the country follow it in awarding their degrees, earned and honorary.

The most significant part of the academic dress is the hood. The color of its velvet border indicates the academic field, and it is lined with the color or colors of the institution granting the degree. The hoods of those receiving a Master of Arts or an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters have those same color indications, but each successively higher degree carries with it a longer hood. The doctoral hood also has side panels on the back.

Although most doctoral gowns are black with black velvet bars and panels, in some cases the color of the gown is that of the university conferring the degree. All such gowns have black bars and panels.

Academic fields may also be indicated by the color of velvet on the doctoral gowns; three two-inch bars on the sleeves and a five-inch border extending from the back of the neck down the two sides in front. For the degree of Doctor of Philosophy the color is dark blue; for Doctor of Medicine, green; for Doctor of Education, light blue; for Doctor of Science, golden yellow. These colors also appear in the velvet of the hood unless the hood represents an honorary degree. The Doctor of Laws has purple velvet. The Doctor of Humanities is white, as is the Doctor of Letters. The Doctor of Public Administration has a hood with velvet in pale aqua.

Caps are black. Tassels are usually black for bachelor's and master's degrees, gold for doctorates. Gowns for bachelor's and master's are plain black, but sleeves of the latter are short with trailing "elbows." Doctoral gowns of European universities are usually very colorful. The caps are often of some soft material like velvet and are ordinarily not of the conventional mortar-board shape. Several examples may be seen in the university faculty:

Arts, Letters, Humanities—white
Commerce, Accountancy,
Business—drab
Education—light blue
Engineering—orange
Fine Arts—brown
Journalism—crimson
Law—purple
Library Science—lemon

Medicine—green
Music—pink
Nursing—apricot
Philosophy—dark blue
Physical Education—sage green
Science—golden yellow
Social Science—cream
Theology—scarlet
Veterinary Science—gray

Alma Mater

(The audience is invited to participate.)

Far above the rolling campus,
Resting in the dale,
Stands the dear old Alma Mater
We will always hail.
Shout in chorus, raise your voices,
Blue and Gold—praise you.
Winning through to fame and glory,
Dear old MSU.

Commencement Profiles

Dr. Ronald G. Eaglin became the 12th president of Morehead State University on July 1, 1992. Bringing nearly 30 years of experience in higher education administration to the MSU post, he previously was chancellor of the University of South Carolina's Coastal Carolina College at Conway.

A former vice chancellor for academic affairs at USC's Spartanburg campus, Dr. Eaglin began his career in higher education administration in the area of student life/housing and has taught both in public school and university settings. In the early 1970s, he served as southeast regional director of the American College Testing Program (ACT).

He holds a bachelor's degree in biology and mathematics from Southeast Missouri State University, a master's degree in student personnel administration from Southern Illinois University and a doctoral degree in educational psychology from the University of Utah.

A graduate of Leadership South Carolina, he has been active in the NCAA President's Commission and is a former vice chairman of the Big South Athletic Conference (Division 1). Active in the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, President Eaglin has served on numerous AASCU committees, including chair of the Committee on Academic Affairs in 1989. Currently, he is participating in a three-year national student retention project being undertaken by AASCU and funded by the Student Loan Marketing Association.

He frequently serves as a consultant and often presents workshops for colleges on student retention, leadership and academic advisement. He has worked with numerous statewide projects in the Southeast, including the South Carolina Department of Education, Florida Student Articulation Committee, Tennessee Commission on Higher Education, Georgia Board of Regents and South Carolina Board for Technical and Comprehensive Education.

In late July of 1992, he chaired a Fulbright High Commission delegation which went to Cyprus to present a four-day seminar on accreditation and self-study for higher education representatives of Turkish and Greek Cypriot communities.

A member of several honorary societies such as Psi Chi and Phi Delta Kappa, Dr. Eaglin also is active in his community. As president of MSU, Dr. Eaglin serves as a member of the Board of Directors of the Morehead-Rowan County Chamber of Commerce and the Jesse Stuart Foundation.

He and his wife, Bonnie, have four adult children.

Paula Lynn Stafford of Sandy Hook, the student speaker, today receives a master's degree in elementary education with an emphasis in reading. The Elliott County High School graduate earned her B.A. degree from Centre College, where she co-founded an organization to promote student involvement in the community. Her efforts in community involvement earned her the distinction of being the first individual to be recognized by the Campus Outreach Opportunity League as its "Outstanding Recent College Graduate."

As a Graduate Fellow in Life Sciences, she spent two years as a laboratory instructor at Centre where she first began considering teaching as a career. After substitute teaching for a year in her home county, Stafford entered Morehead State University to fulfill certification requirements and is now certified K-4, secondary English and biology.

MSU's outstanding graduate student in elementary education for 1991, she is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, professional education fraternity and is past president of MSU's chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, international honor society in education.

Currently an eighth grade language arts teacher at Elliott County Middle School, she also coaches the middle school academic team and travels with the high school basketball team as scorekeeper. Active in KERA efforts, she is a KERA performance assessment fellow. She is the daughter of Paul and Linda Stafford of Newfoundland.

Academic Costumes

The wearing of academic costumes is a custom that goes back to the Middle Ages. Since the early European and English universities were founded by the church, the students and teachers were required to wear distinctive gowns at all times. Although the custom was brought to this country in Colonial days, the requirement for students was soon dropped. The custom for professors was confined to special occasions such as graduating exercises and inaugurations of new presidents. With the increase in the number of educational institutions and the development of new subject-matter fields, some confusion arose in time about the type of gown and the specific color to denote various degrees. To introduce desirable uniformity and set up a clearing house for new developments, a commission representing leading American colleges produced The Intercollegiate Code in 1895. In 1932, a national committee of the American Council on Education revised this code into The Academic Costume Code. It was revised in 1959. Although not obligatory, most of the educational institutions in the country follow it in awarding their degrees, earned and honorary.

The most significant part of the academic dress is the hood. The color of its velvet border indicates the academic field, and it is lined with the color or colors of the institution granting the degree. The hoods of those receiving a Master of Arts or an honorary degree of Doctor of Letters have those same color indications, but each successively higher degree carries with it a longer hood. The doctoral hood also has side panels on the back.

Although most doctoral gowns are black with black velvet bars and panels, in some cases the color of the gown is that of the university conferring the degree. All such gowns have black bars and panels.

Academic fields may also be indicated by the color of velvet on the doctoral gowns; three two-inch bars on the sleeves and a five-inch border extending from the back of the neck down the two sides in front. For the degree of Doctor of Philosophy the color is dark blue; for Doctor of Medicine, green; for Doctor of Education, light blue; for Doctor of Science, golden yellow. These colors also appear in the velvet of the hood unless the hood represents an honorary degree. The Doctor of Laws has purple velvet. The Doctor of Humanities is white, as is the Doctor of Letters. The Doctor of Public Administration has a hood with velvet in pale aqua.

Caps are black. Tassels are usually black for bachelor's and master's degrees, gold for doctorates. Gowns for bachelor's and master's are plain black, but sleeves of the latter are short with trailing "elbows." Doctoral gowns of European universities are usually very colorful. The caps are often of some soft material like velvet and are ordinarily not of the conventional mortar-board shape. Several examples may be seen in the university faculty:

Arts, Letters, Humanities—white
Commerce, Accountancy,
Business—drab
Education—light blue
Engineering—orange
Fine Arts—brown
Journalism—crimson
Law—purple
Library Science—lemon

Medicine—green
Music—pink
Nursing—apricot
Philosophy—dark blue
Physical Education—sage green
Science—golden yellow
Social Science—cream
Theology—scarlet
Veterinary Science—gray

(The audience is invited to participate.)

Far above the rolling campus,
Resting in the dale,
Stands the dear old Alma Mater
We will always hail.
Shout in chorus, raise your voices,
Blue and Gold—praise you.
Winning through to fame and glory,
Dear old MSU.

Commencement Profiles

Dr. Ronald G. Eaglin became the 12th president of Morehead State University on July 1, 1992. Bringing nearly 30 years of experience in higher education administration to the MSU post, he previously was chancellor of the University of South Carolina's Coastal Carolina College at Conway.

A former vice chancellor for academic affairs at USC's Spartanburg campus, Dr. Eaglin began his career in higher education administration in the area of student life/housing and has taught both in public school and university settings. In the early 1970s, he served as southeast regional director of the American College Testing Program (ACT).

He holds a bachelor's degree in biology and mathematics from Southeast Missouri State University, a master's degree in student personnel administration from Southern Illinois University and a doctoral degree in educational psychology from the University of Utah.

A graduate of Leadership South Carolina, he has been active in the NCAA President's Commission and is a former vice chairman of the Big South Athletic Conference (Division 1). Active in the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, President Eaglin has served on numerous AASCU committees, including chair of the Committee on Academic Affairs in 1989. Currently, he is participating in a three-year national student retention project being undertaken by AASCU and funded by the Student Loan Marketing Association.

He frequently serves as a consultant and often presents workshops for colleges on student retention, leadership and academic advisement. He has worked with numerous statewide projects in the Southeast, including the South Carolina Department of Education, Florida Student Articulation Committee, Tennessee Commission on Higher Education, Georgia Board of Regents and South Carolina Board for Technical and Comprehensive Education.

In late July of 1992, he chaired a Fulbright High Commission delegation which went to Cyprus to present a four-day seminar on accreditation and self-study for higher education representatives of Turkish and Greek Cypriot communities.

A member of several honorary societies such as Psi Chi and Phi Delta Kappa, Dr. Eaglin also is active in his community. As president of MSU, Dr. Eaglin serves as a member of the Board of Directors of the Morehead-Rowan County Chamber of Commerce and the Jesse Stuart Foundation.

He and his wife, Bonnie, have four adult children.

Sandra Lynn Little of Mt. Sterling, a graduating senior from the College of Business, will be the student speaker. A nontraditional student, she will receive the Bachelor of Business Administration degree with honors today. Her area of concentration is accounting.

After working part-time and going to school part-time, she returned to school as a full-time student in order to prepare for a more challenging career. As an MSU student, she worked with the University's VITA program as a tax preparer. She is a member of Phi Kappa Phi honor society, the Accounting Club and Pinnacle honor society for nontraditional students.

The Walled Lack (Mich.) Western High School graduate plans to work in the accounting field either in the corporate or public sector. The daughter of Mrs. Lavon Tester of Jackson, she is married to Richard Little of Mt. Sterling.
